

SITUATION REVIEWED WITH HUERTA ENVOYS

MEDIATORS HOLD INFORMAL CONFERENCE WITH MEXICAN DELEGATES TODAY.

NO DEFINITE PROPOSAL

HYPOTHETICAL STEPS FOR SETTLEMENT ARE SUGGESTED TO ASCERTAIN POSITION OF CONFERENCES.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Niagara Falls, Ontario, May 21.—The three South American mediators in an informal conference today with the representatives of General Huerta sought to learn in a general way the viewpoint of the Mexican representatives on various tentative plans for a solution of the Mexican problem.

The mediators pursued the same course with the Mexican delegates as they did with the American Peace Commission last night. No formal expression of views was required, but the mediators suggested hypothetical steps looking to a settlement of the Mexican problem and learned the trend of thought of the delegates.

No Definite Proposals

No proposal of a definite character has been made to the Americans, and it was understood that none were contemplated today with the Mexicans. In fact one of the principals of the conference expressed the opinion that it might be several days before a definite and comprehensive plan would be submitted for formal consideration for either side.

Minister Naon of Argentina described the informal sessions with each side as "talks" or "conversations" indicating that what was being done was chiefly for the guidance of all parties in shaping the course of the mediation.

Today's conference between the South American mediators and the Mexican delegates marked the conclusion in the first step of the attempt being made to settle the differences between the United States and Mexico.

The conference between the Mexican delegates and mediators lasted about an hour. At its conclusion Emilio Robles, chairman of the Mexican delegates, said:

"We were merely exchanging ideas and getting each other's point of view. The informal conference, first with the American and then with the Mexicans, will continue until there is some definite point to lay before the joint conference. No basis of settlement was suggested to us today. We merely talked over the whole situation."

Villa Arouses Concern.

There is a feeling on the part of the mediators in the mediation conference here that the savage advance of the constitutional army under General Villa must have a bearing on the settlement of the differences between the United States and the Huerta party.

When the South Americans withdrew the invitation they had extended to General Carranza to send delegates to the Niagara Falls conference because of the refusal of the constitutional leader to agree to an armistice to continue during the session, it was stated that the conference would proceed to a consideration of questions growing out of the Tampa incident and subsequent causes of irritation between the Mexican federal government and the American military forces.

Official reports coming yesterday from constitutionalist forces recite the visit of Villa and his army in the Saltillo campaign, having convinced the Mexican representatives here that Huerta's foes cannot be stopped. Moreover, the execution of a federal general and his entire staff by Villa has impressed upon them the fact that the leaders of the federal army cannot hope for mercy if they fall into the hands of the constitutionalists.

Huerta Won't Retire.

Much interest was displayed here in an explanation circulated today concerning the express dispatch of yesterday saying Huerta would retire.

As yet no out statement saying he authorized peace delegates to offer his resignation, if necessary, to arrange peace.

Correspondents of the Associated Press in Mexico were immediately dispatched to send Huerta verbatim statement which disclosed after several hours that the words "dnying" had been received as "saying," and that the sense of the dispatch had been reversed by the error.

As filed the dispatch was a denial by Huerta that he had authorized his delegates to agree to his retirement from the presidency. An investigation is proceeding to fix the error.

Bryan Satisfied.

Washington, May 21.—Everything is working smoothly. There has been no hitch whatever, was the answer of Secretary of State Bryan today, to inquiries about the preliminary mediation conference over Mexican differences at Niagara Falls, Canada.

Following Secretary Bryan's announcement, unofficial but reliable information was reiterated in official quarters, that General Huerta had placed himself unreservedly in the hands of the three commissioners representing his interest at Niagara Falls. It positively was declared that the Mexican commissioners' authority to defeat Huerta as a condition of final settlement.

FRENCH SEEK TO RECOVER TREASURE LOST YEARS AGO

BY SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

Paris, May 21.—An effort to raise a sunken treasure lost with the French fleet near Rio Blanchard in 1692 will shortly be undertaken by a French firm acting for the government. The allied British and Dutch squadrons attacked and sunk thirteen French ships at the battle of La Hogue. One of the French ships is said to have had on board a large sum for the purpose of paying the fleet. Some time ago an independent salvage company recovered several silver ingots.

This afternoon after having his ribs placed in a cast, Smith went to work again.

DEMOCRATS NOW THE MAJORITY PARTY IN STATE OF WISCONSIN

First Time Under the Primary Election Law—Means More Names On Nominating Petitions.

For the first time since the primary election law became effective in Wisconsin it has become necessary for democratic candidates for state office and for United States senator to secure more signatures than republican candidates for the same offices. This follows as a result of the presidential election of 1912 wherein the democratic candidates for presidential electors received more votes than did the republican candidates or the candidates of any other party. The minimum number of signatures required for any democratic candidate is 16,422 while the republican required for re-electing candidates is only 13,303.

The law provides that in order to secure a place on the primary election ballot the candidate must secure a number of signatures equal to one per cent of the total vote cast for the presidential elector receiving the highest number of votes at the last preceding presidential election. The candidates for election of the various parties receiving such highest number of votes at the election of 1912 were:

Anderson, dem., 16,228

Sal Levitt, rep., 13,065

John Hicken, progressive, 12,460

James Sheehan, social dem., 33,481

W. P. Massener, prohibition, 8,586

Carl Doeckler, social labor, 522

The number of petitioners required, therefore, of candidates of each of the above parties is: democratic, 16,422; republican, 13,303; progressive, 12,460; social labor, 522.

The progressive candidate in the legislature of 1912 provides that any petitioning which at the last preceding general election was represented on the official ballot by either regular party candidates or by individual nominees only, may, upon complying with the provisions of the law have a separate primary election ticket as a political party, if any of its candidates for individual nominees receive one per cent of the total vote cast at the last preceding general election in the state or subdivision thereof in which the candidate seeks the nomination. This law was passed for the purpose of permitting the bull moose party to have its candidates on the primary ballot for the purpose of getting them on the ballot for the general election. At the last presidential election the total number of votes cast in this state was 209,702. Ten per cent of this number is 20,970 and as the progressive party candidate for presidential elector had upwards of 62,000 votes they this year may have a place on the primary ballot but if the opinion of Attorney General Owen, given officially some time ago, is to rule, the progressive candidates having secured a place on the primary ballot having no political party cannot have the name placed on the ballot for the general election. This view of the law upsets the evident intention of the legislature and should necessarily require, may call for a judicial determination.

June 4 is the earliest time when candidates may begin to circulate petitions and the last day for filing the petitions in the office of secretary of state is August 3 or 30 days before the primary election, which falls this year on September 2.

THE OLD OAKEN BUCKET

Famous Song And Its Composer

Samuel Woodworth, the son of a modest Massachusetts farmer, was born in Scituate, that state, January 19, 1788. While the family were poor and had no luxuries, their lot was no worse than that of the ordinary New England family, and they lived in comparative comfort.

While his life was a succession of ambitions, attempts and failures, his fame rests secure on his faithful portrayal of the old-fashioned well and weather-beaten well-sweep, universally to be found in the farms of that day.

While living in New York City, on Duane Street, he came home one July day, nearly overcome with the heat, and with nothing to drink but the tepid water of the city—ice being unknown in those days in the summer months—he exclaimed to his wife: "What would I not give this moment for a draught from the old oaken bucket hanging in my father's well!"

"Wouldn't that be a good subject for a poem?" forthwith he said, down the thronging recollections of his childhood crowded thick upon him, and that charming idyl of bucolic New England sprang into sheathless life and fame. The music is said to have been adapted from an ancient Scottish melody by Frederick Smith. Woodworth died in 1852.

This song, like so many of the heart lyrics of an older day, is found in the famous song collection called "Heart Songs" which this paper is offering now, free of cost to its readers.

We recommend you to look for the Heart Songs coupon to be found elsewhere in this paper today—and learn the terms upon which this remarkable book can be had.

Water in the Desert.

Tapp, the English naturalist, who has explored the mountain ranges of the Malay peninsula, reports the fact, not generally known, that in several species of bamboo the hollow internodes—the parts of the stems between the joints—are stored with large quantities of naturally filtered water. The knowledge of this fact might be of great service in an emergency.

Wisdom From Bacon.

An ant is a wise creature for itself, but it is a shrewd thing in an orchard or garden; and certainly men, who are great lovers of themselves, waste the public, divide with reason between self-love and society; and be so true to thyself, as thou be not false to others, especially to thy king and country. It is poor center of man's actions, himself.—Bacon.

NEW TENNIS COURTS IN EXCELLENT SHAPE

Y. M. C. A. Plots at Corner of West Milwaukee and Marion Streets is Scene of Fast Matches.

Will tennis be resumed again in this city this summer, as it was several years ago, when the enthusiastic racket bugs would crowd out of bed at four o'clock in the morning and get to the Y. M. C. A. tennis courts for their regular morning matches?

It is evident at present that such an interest will be again taken this summer, for already numerous rackets are seen flying in the air, meeting in the little white sphere at the various angles.

The same courts, located at the corner of West Milwaukee and Marion streets, and leased by the Y. M. C. A., have been put into excellent shape, through the efforts of Frank M. Yordy, physical director. A new sod has been hardened, and a new fence twenty feet high runs around the court, giving an ideal enclosure for the speed kings to play their game.

It is the plan of the Janesville tennis enthusiasts to form a club, such as was in existence a few years ago.

After the local stars feel they can play the game with some satisfaction, outside matches will be scheduled. There has been a great interest all winter in the city to have a tennis club organized, and now that the grounds are in perfect shape, there is no reason why a successful season on the lawns cannot be experienced.

BOILLOT, CHAMP RACE DRIVER OF EUROPE, IN SPEEDWAY RACE; EXPERTS SAY EITHER HE OR GOUX WILL CAPTURE FIRST HONORS

Georges Boillot (top) and Louis Disbrow.

According to motor racing experts, the 500-mile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway, May 30, is likely to be won either by Goux or by Georges Boillot, both French drivers. Boillot is the champion race driver of Europe. He won the Grand Prix de France twice, in 1912 and 1913. His car, a Peugeot, though one of the smallest in the race, with only 841.7 cubic inches piston displacement, is one of the speediest, being capable of 110 miles an hour.

One of the Americans counted upon to stem the foreign invasion is Louis Disbrow, the veteran pilot of Pope Hanford and Simplex cars, who has taken over the wheel of the second Burman centipede in the Indianapolis race. Disbrow holds practically all the dirt track records of the country, having barnstormed for the Case people the last two seasons.

TRACK WINNERS TO ADDRESS STUDENTS

Large Gathering Will Take Place Saturday Evening at High School Following Dual Meet.

The track contestants that win the ribbons Saturday afternoon in the first annual high school inter-class dual meet will be required to address a mass meeting to be held Saturday evening in the school auditorium, the session being arranged for by the members of the faculty.

At this meeting, those athletes that win first prizes will be asked to make speeches, in addition to the already announced.

The meet includes Professors J. T. Sheafor, G. W. Curtis, Supt. H. C. Bell and several of the feminine members of the teaching force.

The purpose of the session is to encourage track work for coming years, and to have a general good time in closing activities for 1914.

The admission fee for the dual meet Saturday will be but a dime, to cover expenses of the material which had to be purchased. The contestants enter a sum ranging from twenty-five cents to the seniors looming up as the sure point getters. Five points for first place, three for second and one for third, is the system Coach Curtis has arranged for marking the winners.

Underground Workers.

Six million persons make their living under ground, working in mines and quarries. That number is about twice the population of this country when it decided to cut away from England and go it alone. Those six million workers dig four billions of wealth a year out of the bowels of the earth.

They Looked Dangerous.

A little three-year-old boy, who from time of infancy had been under the care of doctors and trained nurses, was visiting his grandmother after convalescence from tonsillitis. An open fire attracted him. After watching the sparks, which fell incessantly on the hearth, he asked, "Grandma, are those red spots germs?"—Christian Register.

No Vacuum in the Household.

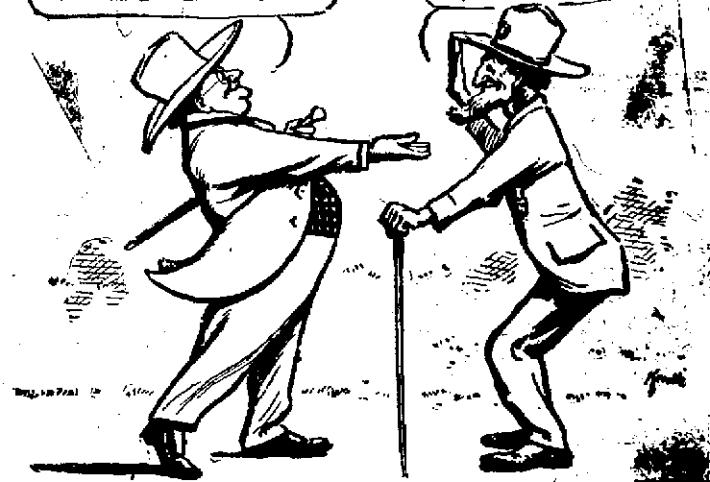

"I would like to show you our new vacuum cleaner," began the aged lady as she opened the door. "We ain't got no vacuum to clean," snapped the hard-faced woman as she slammed the door.

PHONES IN MERRIE ENGLAND.

Not long ago somebody of prominence in the city of Liverpool protested loudly against the government's operation of telephones, making particular objection against the time taken to install a new telephone. But it seems that the Liverpool man was rather impudent. As proof, read the statement issued by the postmaster-general to whom inquiry was directed regarding the delay:

"The average time taken to connect the new subscriber with the telephone system," says the postmaster-general, "from the time of receiving the order, is as follows: Birmingham, 51 days; Manchester, 46; Belfast 40; Liverpool, 26; Dublin, 21; London, 18½; and Edinburgh, 18."

Who wouldn't live in Merrie England, in Birmingham, for instance, and have the pleasure of ordering a telephone installed in one's business house, say on April 15, and then one's eyes cheered on June 5 with the sight of the installation man coming through the front door with his two or three civil service, politically-enchained assistants? One could have a nice party to celebrate the installation of a phone in one's residence. There would be plenty of time to have invitations engraved, the catering arranged and the house decorated.

Here in this country we live too fast. We haste. We bolt our meals. We insist on rapid transit, and sometimes get it. We notify the telephone company we want a telephone, and if we haven't got it in two days we begin to worry the manager. If it isn't in place by the third day, the chairman of the board of directors is liable to hear from us.

What Americans really need is something like the English system. It indicates patience. It renders one willing to put up with any sort of service because we have waited so long for it that it seems a thing so much more desirable when finally we do get it.

The postmaster-general of Great Britain and Ireland neglected to say how long after a connection is made service begins. Probably one doesn't have to wait more than a week or two before the central operator deigns to answer.

Anyhow, we now understand why the Englishman doesn't say "Hello" into a 'phone, but instead asks: "Are you there?"—The New York Commercial.

This is the sort of telephone service which results from government ownership, and about what may be expected when our telegraph and telephone companies become the property of the United States.

THE DOG LICENSE.
By their action the Janesville councilmen have placed a tax of two dollars upon every male dog owned within the city limits, and four dollars upon every female of the species. Of course Kipling says the "Female of the species is the worst." Kipling knows perhaps, and then perhaps he does not. However, the fact remains the council has placed a tax of two dollars on every dog in town. In view of this fact we could not blame the poor dogs following the example of Oliver Goldsmith's dog:

"And in that town a dog was found
As many dogs there be,
Both mongrel, puppy, whelp and hound
And curs of low degree."

This dog went mad. History does not tell us there was a tax of two dollars upon his life, but if there was no one would blame the poor thing for doing so.

The dog is man's best friend. In many a household the news that their pet is to be taxed two dollars for a right to be loved and to live for one year is sure to bring grief. The children usually own the dog. The father of the house is negligent of the family pet. He knows it greets him when he returns, but to the children the dog belongs. Two dollars is too much to pay for this privilege of a few brief wags of the tail at night. The dog will disappear and the children will grieve. Who will be the richer?

A dollar tax on a dog, a two dollar tax on a female, would have been sufficient. The council went a dollar too far on the dog question and two dollars too far on the female dog. There is no fear of an epidemic of hydrophobia at present. True, there are too many dogs in town, but less stringent methods might have been taken to reduce the number. It bites the children of the household, not the real owner of the vicious dog. He will pay his license and the nuisance will not be abated.

The dog to gain his private ends went mad and bit the man. The man recovered of the bite, The dog it was that died."

The council has made a mistake, they should rectify the error before it is too late. Make the license on dogs one dollar, on females two, and the public will be satisfied. Wait in his songs says:

"Let dogs delight to bark and bite,
For God hath made them so.
Let bears and lions growl and fight,
For tis their nature to."

Thing it over, gentlemen, before it is too late. You are bringing sorrow into many a household where the necessary funds to pay that two dollars are counted twice and the faithful dog, the friend of the family, must pay the penalty.

WANTED—PLAYGROUNDS.

In every section of the city the youngsters, boys from eight to twelve and fourteen, are confronted with the problem: "Where can we play?" The streets are unsafe, the automobilists having brought this condition about, vacant lots are scarce, yards too small for a genuine ball game, so what can they do? This is particularly true of the Fourth and Fifth wards. The city owns a park there. It is a level stretch of land, just the place for a ball game, but let the youngsters congregate, let them toss and bat their little ball about and some resident reports the matter to the police and they are driven off.

You can grow grass by irrigation. You can plant trees and shrubs and create a landscape garden but you can not bring up boys by continually restricting their pleasures. Placing them in the confines of a walled yard with signs of "Don't do this!" "Don't do that!" staring them in the face, it is a problem that needs a solution. It is a question the Gazette would like to see settled. Think it over and write your views on the subject. They will be printed and it will open the way perhaps for the establishment of play grounds where ball games be enjoyed.

It would appear to be just as much a matter of municipal affairs as the levy of a dog tax on the poor canine, the building of new streets or the establishing of schools. Why can not permission be given the boys, the younger boys, who can not go great distances from home to places where wild balls diamonds are laid out for their use, to play their games in the city parks?

The playgrounds at the school grounds do not open until the latter part of June in the meantime what are the youngsters to do? Be driven off by the police every time they seek recreation? It is no pleasure for the officers to enforce this ruling but they are compelled to do so. Why can not the council take some action on this? Why can not the civic league do something? Express your views on the subject and let's have something done for the rising generation.

WHO PAYS THE FREIGHT?

Claims of mail carrying railroads against the United States aggregating $31,000,000 and involving 720 railroads were denied in a test case decided Monday by the court of claims. In an opinion by Chief Justice Campbell, the court reversed a former ruling and held that the present method of weighing mail to fix compensation for transportation is legal and proper.

This late dispatch from Washington shows that a "legal and proper" thing, as the court puts it, may be absolutely destitute of justice. In other words a thing may be legally right and morally wrong. This is true concerning government land lotteries, and it is just as true of the methods employed in dealing with the railroads on the parcels post postage.

Mail contracts are let to the railroads once in four years, and the rate of compensation is based on tonnage determined by a thirty days' weighing just before the contracts are let.

Before the parcels post came in this method was reasonably fair, although any private business would be required to pay for service rendered every day of the year.

It happens that the parcels post was introduced within a year after the last quadrennial weighing, and the railroads have been compelled to carry this large volume of new business without a dollar of pay, because they were bound by a legal contract which the court decides is proper and right.

No wonder that the express companies complain of this kind of competition or that the railroad companies rebuff when required to contribute thirty-one million dollars the first year to make successful a government enterprise. If that isn't legal confiscation of property, what is it?

In every bar room in the city can be found huge cards furnished the proprietors by Chief of Police Champion, which set forth the state law relative to minors being sold drinks and the liabilities that the minors incur in purchasing them or in misrepresenting their age. Added to this every member of the Janesville Retail Liquor Dealers association has a card for persons suspected of being under twenty-one to sign before he is served. It is a move in the right direction for the law does not permit minors going into saloons and places a penalty upon the saloon keeper for permitting it and upon the minor for doing so.

Newspaper opinion as to the advisability of holding a republican state convention called by the twenty-eight men who met in Milwaukee Tuesday, appears to agree that it is an ill timed movement and fraught with peril to the general object of the present campaign. Reduction of taxes and a careful administration of state affairs.

UNUSUALLY LARGE CLASS WILL RECEIVE DIPLOMAS AT HIGH SCHOOL IN JUNE.

ARRANGING PROGRAMS

Musical Night Pageant and Graduation Night, Comprise Three Days of Festivities.

When the diplomas of graduation from the Janeville High school were presented on Thursday evening, June the 11th, it is expected that as many as fifty-eight seniors will receive them in honor of having completed their course of study in the high school, after four winters of hard study.

Out of this number twenty-four are boys and thirty-four are girls. The majority of them have completed their studies in four years, while it took five winters for the remainder of them to satisfactorily finish their work. The class, at any rate, is the largest one that has finished the local institution within the past seven or eight years. Perhaps the record year is 1899, when 76 seniors received diplomas.

The school will lose a valuable class this year, in many ways, in athletics, Victor Hemming and Edward Atwood rank highest, for it was these two men around whom the basketball team of 1913 was built.

Both of these boys have high school careers, having played for three years at center, twice all-state center and captain, and captain of the blue and white this season. Atwood finishes with two years' experience on the five, and also with two titles of all-state forward. Barnes, the substitute, will be keenly felt in athletic circles.

Karl Frick, Carl Schonhoff and Russell Smiley, three debaters in the school, leave after gaining a good knowledge in the forensic line. The latter has served two years on the debating team, and is a member of the negative team that helped to win the Beloit College league cup in 1913.

In football Atwood, Barnes, Hayes, Hemming, McVicar, Marshall, Pond, Lewis, Roherly and R. Smiley will be missed. John Ferguson as manager of athletics has capably filled the position, and the school will find it a hard task to fill his vacancy next year.

Following is a list of the seniors in alphabetical order:

Brown, Philo Atwood, Cicely Olive, Alta, Rosalie A. Austin, Hazel Barker, Raymond Lee Barnes, Lorene Herkimer Bowerman, Frances Turpen Brown, Herbert A. Brownell, Margarette Agnes Brunson, Bessie Margaret Buell, E. Eleanor Burke, Mary G. Butters, Walter Scott Craig, Gerald Echlin, Cunningham, Marshall M. Davis, Grace Vivian Davison, Constance Irene Echlin, Gladys Marion Echlin, Frances E. Eller, John J. Ferguson, Margaret Flanagan, Charles Lucia Franklin Karl Saenger, Alma Margot Gesteland, Nellie Esther Gillespie, Louis J. Hayes, Victor Edward Hemming, Willard Woodstock Held, Vera Alice Hough, Charlotte Hill Hughes, Margaret Hedges Jeffris, Lucine Elizabeth Jones, Frank William Kennedy, Fred Alexander Korst, Alva Shirley Krouz, Dorothy Jean MacLean, Marion L. Matheson, Max Francis, Marie Sarah McElroy, James Garrett W. McElroy, James Stuart Mount, Harriet M. Viscardi, Stanley Burnham Paul, Alice Frances Perry, Esther M. Peterson, Stuart Andrew Pond, Marguerite Powers, Catherine Roherly, James Barrett Roherly, Lewis Francis Robert, Freeman William Rumage, Florence Ryan, Carl Henry Schoof, Clarence H. Selgren, Russell G. Smiley, Ruth M. Taylor, Bessie Margaret Voltz, Sybil D. Whitebread.

Musical Night.

The programs for the commencement exercises are fast being completed. Under the direction of Miss Emily Sewell, city schools musical instructor, the high school orchestra, senior class and both glee clubs are holding daily song practices in order to place before the graduation audience a musical program worth listening to.

The boys' glee club, while only a fourth as large as the young ladies can boast of, are progressing fully as fast as their rivals. New selections in which the four parts are sure are being mastered, and with the aid of the orchestra, the program for June ninth should be one of the best musical programs yet heard by Janeville audiences.

Pageant.

Under the supervision of Miss Abell, a pageant will be given on Wednesday afternoon, June tenth, this date not positively certain as yet. Miss Abell is confident she can surpass all former May festivals by introducing new folk dances. She has a gross of material for the festival and plans to make the Maypole dance one of the most important events of the afternoon. The daily work taken up at the high school is the physical training course, is the big development and preliminary training which has made all our pageants a success, and with the entire senior and junior class girls having participated in the last three outdoor features, an even better festival may be expected this year than that standpoint alone.

Graduation Night.

On graduation night the diplomas will be given out; also, the class song will be sung by Miss Lorene Bowerman, who will be singing the valedictory address before the presentation of diplomas takes place. Orations will be given by some of the senior boys. Many of the girls will take the leading parts in the pageant on Wednesday, and consequently will be excluded from participating in any further exercises.

The abandoning of the annual Alumni banquet to the seniors will debar the graduation guests to a certain extent. The senior party plans have not been made, but predictions point to a dance to be even superior to the one given by the class of 1911.

Mrs. LOOMIS ENTERTAINS ATHENA CLUB WEDNESDAY

Mrs. E. E. Loomis of North Washington street entertained the Athena Club at her home on Wednesday, May 20, to a one o'clock luncheon, which was served in three courses. Spring flowers were the decorations. A very interesting program was given in the afternoon. Each guest brought a relic, most of them going back to Revolutionary days and told the story connected with them. Miss Belle Campbell gave a reading from Ben Hur, and Miss Florence Nuzum two piano selections. Mrs. Sannie Conger of Milwaukee was present. Mrs. Conger being the guest of Mrs. Loomis for a few days. This social meeting was the last of the season for the club. The next one will be held in November.

ARE DOING RAPID WORK ON PHOENIX

First Fifty Pages of Biennial Completed.—Students Waiting for Model Publication.

The Gazette Printing company are expected to have the high school "Phoenix" ready for binding within a few weeks, and if they keep up the pace they have held in the past days, the book will be in circulation before June first. Over fifty pages have been turned out of a possible one hundred and seventy-five.

Editor-in-Chief Harry Fuchs of the junior class, under whose supervision the book is being published, believes he has something extremely new in the line of high school publications. He has taken careful pains to have only the material inserted that is of general interest. All of the Old Mother Goose poetry which is found in the new pages of the 1912 book, is not being printed this year. It is an honor to the Janesville high school to put into the hands of its students such a volume and the bulk of the credit goes to the board, with the advertisers of the city receiving the rest.

Rev. Harold McCarthy and Bert Premo, aged seventeen and eighteen years, were given fines of twenty-five dollars and costs on their plea of guilty of violating the city ordinance, discharging fire arms within the city limits. The two boys were arrested by Chief Champion yesterday and charged in connection with the shooting of Joseph Jenove near the Monterey Electric plant last week. The two youths told Judge Maxfield that they were shooting at a target in the river and did not hear Jenove shout a warning to them. Chief Champion recommended that they be given a light fine, explaining that the shooting by careless youths along the river banks within the city limits, has got to be stopped.

LIVESTOCK SPECIAL WILL START MONDAY

Exceptional Exhibits Will Be Carried Through Eighteen Northern Counties.

(IN PARENTHESIS)

Madison, Wis., May 21.—Starting next Monday the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' Association special train will tour eighteen counties in central and northern Wisconsin over the Chicago & Northwestern and the Green Bay & Western lines.

This week is being devoted to assembling the exhibits to be carried.

A steer of superior type from the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, has been selected by Arthur Ronquist, general manager of the American Sheepdog Breeders' Association, to represent a profitable kind of beef animal.

The other extreme will be shown to demonstrate the unprofitable type.

Arthur Broughton, Albany, president of the Wisconsin Sheep Breeders' Association, is assembling the exhibit of sheep: Charles L. Hill, Rosedale, president of the American Cattle Club, is gathering the exhibit of Guernsey cattle, to include cows owned by Rich and Schwalls, Waukesha; Chris Schreider, Racine, secretary of the American Holstein Breeders' Association, has the Holstein exhibit in charge; Ben Tschudy, Monroe, is preparing the Ayrshire exhibit, and E. E. Wyatt, Tomah, secretary of the Jersey Breeders' Association, has the Jersey exhibit in charge.

Immigration Commissioner B. G. Packer will accompany the train on part of the trip, and President O. G. Rewey and Secretary J. C. MacKenzie of the Board of Agriculture have been invited also. Ford Allis, director commissioner of the Northwestern road, and H. C. Cheney, assistant general freight agent, will represent that company. Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Percheron Society of America, has assisted Prof. J. G. Fuller in assembling the horse exhibit. One attraction of interest will be one of the Arbour geldings, tamed on two continents.

The tour will have four chief objectives: to demonstrate the value of animals of wool and mutton from the sheep, of pork from the hog, and of milk and butter from the dairy cow, and of pulling power in the horse. With these go soil fertility.

Places to be visited are: Hortonville, Bear Creek, Marion, Birnamwood, Rosholt, Elderon, Mattoon, Antigo, Crandon, Woodruff, Ashland, St. Paul, Eagle River, Pulaski, Gillett, Spring Green, Oconto Falls, Oconto, Menominee, Sturgeon Bay, Algoma, Keweenaw, Superior, Marinette, Dexterville, Hixton, Whitehall, Independence and Arcadia.

TARIFF DESTROYS WORKING CAPITAL

Wilson Administration and Passing of Free Trade Measure Said to be Extremely Harmful.

By Winfield Jones.

Washington, D. C., May 21.—The results of the Wilson administration and the democratic tariff bill, as far as business and labor are concerned, may be summed up in one sentence:

An immense amount of working capital has been destroyed and labor has suffered by countless thousands as a result.

Only a year or two ago the Payne tariff was the object of bitter denunciation. It was held responsible for all the ills on the calendar. Vested interests were declared to be benefited by it at the expense of the common people. Guarded against foreign competition, American industrial establishments, it was asserted, had found it possible to allow a considerable part of their machinery and equipment to remain unused, thus creating an additional impetus to the increase in the cost of living. In a word, if the advocates of a sweeping tariff reduction said were true, the country was headed straight for the demoralization bow-wow, says the Boston Commercial Bulletin.

We have now had about seven months of democratic tariff regime, and where are we at? Is there any manufacturer, commission man, wholesaler, retailer, citizen, or common laborer who can truthfully say that his position has been improved in ever so slight a degree by the new order of things? That some articles are cheaper than they were formerly there is no question. How could it be otherwise in the face of the record-breaking merchandise imports of $132,000,000 for March? But of what benefit is this when hundreds of thousands of workers are unemployed and thousands reduced to such circumstances that they are compelled to resort to the free soup kitchens to keep from starving?

We are told that it takes time for business to adjust itself to new tariff conditions, and that when the readjustment is completed conditions will begin to improve. This means, presumably, that a certain amount of wreckage was inevitable and that until this is cleared away it will be an impediment to further paths of progress. This is entirely logical. When a ship has been wrecked, transportation is interfered with until the obstruction is removed. But is the transportation company better off afterwards than it was before the wreck? Capital has been destroyed and someone is out of pocket. The day will come when little trace will remain of the devastation which the American beet sugar industry is now undergoing but the fact will remain that an enormous amount of capital will have been thrown away like chaff before the wind and the country will have one industry less.

The population of the United States between 1895 and 1910 increased 21 per cent, while our exports of manufactured goods between 1895 and 1912 increased nearly 500 per cent. That is largely due to the re-establishment in 1890 of the republican policy of protection and the vast increase which it stimulated in the number of manufacturers and establishments. It remains to be seen what a shrinkage in production and in exports will be the result of the Wilson-Underwood tariff law.

It will not be so great as in 1893, because many establishments will only be temporarily closed or run on half-time until after the congressional elections next November.

If these shall result in the choice of a majority of republican congressmen the tide of disaster will be stayed. If the democrats will be victorious we may expect another season of closed factories, extinguished furnace fires, smokeless chimneys, bankruptcy sales and hungry men, women and children as was witnessed in 1894.

If the unfortunate republican division of 1912 shall be perpetuated in 1914 and 1916, President Wilson will have indeed succeeded in undoing the prosperity which was achieved under republican rule.

Our meddlesomeness with business and inability to aggregated capital, proposed by President Wilson in his trust-busting law, will, if the bill passes, probably to some extent aid in making permanent the business disaster which the new tariff has inaugurated.

Marrying Among the Pilgrims.

"The Pilgrims—of Plymouth Rock fame—did not believe in living single long after the death of a wife or husband," says Rev. Mr. Doran, a New England pastor. "The mother of Peregrine White, the first white child born in America, was married to Gov. Winslow when she was only 12 weeks a widow and he eight weeks a widower."

Making Amends.

"We wish to express our regret," wrote the editor of the Spoketown Spizzard, "for saying in our last week's issue that our fellow citizen, Dr. Grimshaw, 'abandoned a most promising career,' when he gave up the practice of medicine and went to preaching. We wrote it 'abandoned a most promising career.'"

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THERE'S such an aching void between the girl I want to be and the "girl I succeeded in being," a dear little letter friend writes me, "that I get completely discouraged. I don't believe there's any good in me."

Dear little letter friend, don't get discouraged. Don't think you're not any good in you. For by your wail of woe you have proved just what you want to be!" Little letter friend, let me tell you something. So long as that void aches you're all right. It's when it stops aching that you will have reason to be displeased at yourself.

The pangs we feel at our failure to fulfill our ideals are the growing pains of the soul. They are not a sign of disease, but of health. The sick soul is the self-satisfied soul.

Except for a saint, there must always be a void between the reality and the ideal of conduct, in the moving we face the day with shining morning face and high courage. We are sure we are going to be kind and tactful in our speech; we are going to control that hasty temper; we are going to overcome that turbulent desire to have our own way in everything, and sacrifice ourselves and our will some of the time; we are going to drive out thoughts of hate and envy and jealousy from our minds; we are not going to fritter away time as we usually do, but make the most of every precious moment and really accomplish something.

A few moments later, however, it was no more than that—we find the day has slipped away. It is night, the record is written, and such a different record from what that makes us so much worse than other folks. Courage, comrades, when we fail. Perhaps we have more to struggle with than others; who knows?

The only real failure is to stop caring and trying. I said it was only the saints who did not have reason to feel the aching void, need not have excepted any human being. Could you find a better explanation of the aching void between real and ideal than St. Paul's intensely human cry: "For the good that I would I do not; but the evil which I would I do."

Don't worry, little letter friend, we're all with you and St. Paul, and the only thing that ever need utterly discourage you or any of us is to find that the void no longer aches.

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

When storing silver for the summer wrap each piece separately in a sheet of waxed paper, and when it is unrolled again in the fall it will be found as bright and clean as when wrapped. When mixing flour and water for thickening gravies, soups, etc., try using an egg beater. It makes nice, smooth thickening in a few seconds. A good way to clean mirrors is to wipe them with a pad dipped in white and warm water. Then dry with a soft cloth and polish with a piece of cotton skin.

Rub the backs of all framed pictures with cedar oil or turpentine and the moths or insects will give them a wide berth.

THE TABLE.

Suet Fruit Pudding—Cover two heaping cups of soft bread crumbs with milk; chop a cupful of figs and half cup sultanas, add to the soaked crumbs and milk, adding a cup of light brown sugar and a pinch of salt. The mixture should be a thick batter. Pour into a buttered mold or tin and steam about four hours. Serve with following sauce: Mix three tablespoonsfuls milk, one cup of powdered sugar and two tablespoonsfuls wine in double boiler, and when just warm gradually pour into half cup of butter beaten to a cream. The milk mixture must only be warm enough to blend with the butter. Don't let it get hot.

Fish and Chives Salad—Take two medium-sized smoked whitefish, free from skin and bone, and cut into half inch squares. Cut a small bunch of chives into half-inch lengths and place alternately with the fish in a dish lined with lettuce leaves. Season with pepper and pour over them oil dressing seasoned with a little mustard.

Almond Velvet Cream—Soak quarter of a pint of gelatin in a cup of milk until soft. Heat a pint of milk and double boiler. Beat together until very light the eggs and two-thirds cup of sugar. Add another half pint of milk, cold, to eggs and sugar, mix well and pour into the scalded milk. Add the soaked gelatin and stir long enough to cook the eggs to a soft custard, about five minutes; remove from the fire, flavor with almond extract and pour into molds. Serve with sweetened cream. Brown Fricassee of Sheep's Tongues

These tongues are usually cheap, bought fresh. Wash well in cold water and then put five tongues in boiling water and simmer two hours. After the first hour, add a teaspoonful of salt. When they are done, and cold, trim off the roots and cut in two lengthwise. Sprinkle with a little pepper, roll in flour and fry brown in butter and a tablespoonful of minced parsley. Make the sauce with two tablespoonsfuls finely grated horseradish, quarter tablespoonful salt, one tablespoonful cider vinegar, one tablespoonful olive oil and level tablespoonful or less of ground mustard. Beat together thoroughly, then cover with cheese. Grate the thin yellow part from the rind of a lemon and squeeze out the juice. Mix one cup of water, one cup sugar, the beaten yolks of two eggs and the lemon. Cook over hot water until thick. Put into a bake shell of good piecrust and place in the oven about five minutes. Beat the white to a stiff froth with half cup of sugar and heat over the custard. Brown the edges and serve cold.

Ham Quenelle—Slice fine enough cold boiled ham to make one and a half cupsfuls and mix with one and a half cupsfuls of potatoes, sliced very thin. Arrange the ham and potatoes in alternate layers, seasoning the ham with dash of pepper. When all the ham and potatoes are in the dish, pour in slowly a pint of cream sauce to which has been added two beaten eggs. Let the sauce mix thoroughly with the ham and potato. Then cover the surface with buttered bread crumbs and place in an oven for fifteen minutes to brown. Serve hot.

Lemon Souffle—Yolks of four eggs, grated rind and juice of one lemon, one cup of sugar, whites of four eggs. Beat the yolks until thick and lemon-colored, add the sugar gradually and continue beating, then add the lemon rind and the juice. Cut and fold in the whites of the eggs beaten until dry, turn into a buttered pudding dish, set in a pan of hot water and bake thirty-five or forty minutes. Serve with or without sauce.

(By Selene Armstrong Harmon.) SHE hails from a little town—in a southern state at that. But Mrs. Cato Sells, wife of the commissioner of Indian affairs, is just as ardent a suffragist as if she had gone on hikes and made soap-box orations on "Votes for Women" all her life. She has done more than have many of the women who work for suffrage in this way. She has converted her own husband.

Mrs. Sells is the proud mother of three children. The eldest of these, Dorothy, is a student at Wellesley. Thomas, Donald, is taking a course at Chicago University, and the youngest of the three, Barbara, is studying at Rockford College, Illinoian.

"The Sells family is really on the best of terms." Mrs. Sells hastens to explain with that ready smile of hers, notwithstanding the fact that one would suspect us of not being on speaking terms from the way in which we have chosen to scatter over the country. You see, it was this way. Each of the children had a very decided taste as to which college he or she wished to attend. So we let them choose absolutely. Why not?"

At her home in Cleburne, Texas, Mrs. Sells took an active interest in public matters and belonged to more clubs than she can remember. There was the Child Study club, which she had to join, being a mother; and the Suffrage club, to which she could not afford not to belong, being a suffragist; and the inevitable literary club to which every self-respecting citizen in a small town must belong, and then some others. But these did not prevent her from being the most constant companion and the closest comrade of Dorothy. She was the laughing stock of her friends in Cleburne because she could never leave her children at home with the maid of an afternoon without feeling nervous about it. So she used to take them to the club meetings. And the three little Sells, all in a row, would sit as quiet as mice throughout a talk on suffrage, or foreign missions, or current affairs, or whatever might be the subject of that afternoon's discourse.

HINTS TO STORE FOR USE.

When traveling in a sleeper and too much draft is felt from a window, a good way to have the fresh air is to put a lead pencil under the sash, and the small crack will let in enough air to keep the air in the berth pure. Keep an old comb to remove lint and hair from the sweeping brush.

When bathing the baby lay him on a pad and towel on a sewing table, unless he is to be put into a bath, as the little one is much easier bathed and not so apt to have his back injured as when held on the lap.

When fly paper gets on wood or the floor soak it with vinegar.

Wear blue glasses when hanging out clothes or putting curtains on a stretcher in the sun, it will be a great saving to the eyes.

Always carry a few flax seeds in your purse, and if a cinder gets in the eye the moistened flax seed will slide in so easily and gather up the painful foreign body.

A shelf over a gas stove or just back of it within reach is a great convenience, as one may keep the seasoning there. The shelf may have hooks underneath on which may be hung the most used utensils, all near at hand.

Cotton crepe is becoming the ideal house dress material, as it is also for underskirts. A bit of lace or a ruffle may be put upon the skirt which can be starched and ironed if so desired, but the dress simply needs washing and drying on a hanger, when it is sweet, clean, and ready for wear.

Iodine marks may be removed with ammonia. Put it on until the spot disappears, then wash well.

For mud stains, allow the mud to dry, then brush briskly with a whisk broom, and the spots will usually disappear.

Ink stains, as well as paint, may be removed by turpentine and soap.

When you find cocoa or chocolate stain on linen, soak in cold water, rubbing well to loosen any fat, then wash in hot suds.

Cause and Effect.

Heart and Home problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) What foods should I eat and which avoid in order to have a nice, clear and white complexion?

(2) What will make pink cheeks and red lips?

(3) How can I remove moles without harming the skin?

(4) When you are introduced to another person and that person says, "Please do meet you," what should be your answer?

(5) I am always in the habit of combing my hair back and wearing it flat. I find a lot of trouble in making it stay. What can I do?

GIRLIE.

(1) To have a nice, clear complexion you must live healthfully, keep very clean, take outdoor exercise, eat plain, nourishing foods, drink plenty of pure water and milk (no tea or coffee) and keep your bowels regular. If your skin is naturally dark you cannot make it white. Avoid highly spiced foods, soups, sauces, gravy, etc. Eat very little candy. If you want candy, eat masses candy or take a lump of sugar. Eat very little cake and pastry and no hot breads. Bread should be a day old before being eaten. Eat a great many vegetables, both cooked and fresh, and all the fresh fruit that will agree with you. Oranges are excellent for the complexion. Drink from two to three pints of water each day and always chew your food well. Meat should be well cooked and eaten not more than twice a day.

(2) Good food and outdoor exercise should give you a good color.

(3) This is a dangerous matter and I must recommend a surgeon to advise you.

(4) You can say "Thank you."

(5) Do you mean that it is difficult to make your hair remain fluffy? Try this: At night pull the front part of your hair over your face and roll it. Then rub into the roots a very little cold cream. Next morning, when washing your face, wash out the cold cream and brush the hair dry—always brushing it toward over the face. Then rough the hair little, throw it back over the head and confine it with side combs. It will look well all day.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Am a young married woman just married six months. Before I was married I associated with a wealthy young man. After being engaged to my husband I ignored this young man, telling him I was engaged. He only laughed and walked away. Now he is bothering me by visiting me quite frequently. I had told him to stay away, as he is causing lots of trouble. Now, Mrs. Thompson, I am living very happily and he is a good husband and a good son-in-law.

How can I keep this other fellow away? He laughs at my threats. I am sure if my husband ever catches him in my home it will cause a lot of trouble and he will surely lose his confidence in me.

Why do you allow him to come into your house?

It seems to me that if he does not respect your wishes and insists upon annoying you, it would be a good idea for your husband to greet the young man the next time he calls and tell him that he is not a welcome visitor. I doubt if he would do anything more violent than this, if you go about it right. Don't let your husband "catch" him in your home accidentally. That might make trouble. I do not think the young man cares for you. He is simply mischievous and delights in annoying you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you kindly give me a recipe to make rose beads. Thank you.

CONSTANT READER.

Rose Beads—Gather the petals and run them through the meat grinder several times, as they must be fine and smooth. If you want the beads to be black put in a little copperas.

Roll the paste into round beads between the palms of the hands, making them twice as large as you want the finished beads to be, as they shrink about half. When made into beads, lay them on a platter and let them stand several hours; then roll again.

String them on broom straws or hat pins and put them in the sun to dry. When taken from the straws put into a cloth bag and rub them hard to take off any loose particles.

Put a little vaseline on the palms of the hands and polish the beads by rubbing them, then wipe beads off with a cloth.

MILTON CHURCH HELD DEDICATION SERVICE

S. D. B. Institution Had Record Audience to Service on Last Saturday.

Milton, Wisconsin, May 21.—On Sabbath, May 16, the S. D. B. church held a re-dedication service which drew an audience that filled the house to overflowing. The occasion was the completion of the new basement rooms. These will be of great service for the regular use of the Sabbath school which for a long time has been obliged to rent extra rooms outside the church for the social uses of the church and community. The improvements include one large room, kitchen, choir room and furnace room, with new furnace. The floor space below is nearly as much as it is above. The rooms are finished in white, well lighted with windows by day, and electric lamps at night. The cost was about $2,500.

The services were under the direction of Pastor L. C. Randolph. Seated with him on the pulpit platform were Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Platts, L. A. Babcock, and the Rev. Mr. Babcock. In the afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Babcock, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Randall, the older person being given a chair member of this church; and Mrs. O. U. Whitford.

Dr. Platts read "The prayer at the dedication of the sanctuary," as given in 2 Chron. 6:18-41. Mr. Babcock offered prayer. The usual choir of twenty voices rendered two beautiful anthems, duet and solo parts being given by Miss Alberta Crandall, Allison, Babcock and Prof. A. E. Whitford. Pastor Randolph introduced Deacon Amos Crandall, who said his building has been made as it was on the installment plan. First in 1874, the main part of the church with entrance in front, under a gallery for the choir, the Sabbath school and primary room or kitchen, and now the basement. Deacon Crandall helped to build the first installation. He is now ninety years old. Deacon Crandall said: "I have many more friends in this church and I love these people. My father and uncle and I hauled stone from Rock river for the first building and I also helped in the changes. I never expected to get as high up as this."

Introducing Dr. and Mrs. Platts the pastor said: "At one time Dr. Platts was chorister here and the young lady who sits by his side today was a member of the choir. They were married here, so their work here in recent years when Dr. Platts was pastor of the church is fresh in your memory and it is a privilege to us all to have them with us today. They did much to prepare the way for this happy consummation."

Dr. Platts said: "When I came to Milton about 1854 the church embraced the whole territory from the Newville bridge over Rock river to a point four miles east of here, the Bullock schoolhouse. When the chorister left here to help form the Rock river church he took his place. When I went East, Sheldon Clark became chorister. While W. G. Whitford was pastor his labor resulted in an extensive work. He used to take Ezra Goodrich's old horse "Whiskey" and go from house to house. When he agreed to be principal of the academy until they could get a better man, that took him from the pastorate. (They never found a better man.) In the last year of my pastorate, seventy-four were added to the membership, about one-half of them by baptism. I think the strength of the church spiritually has kept pace with the growth of the town."

Mrs. Platts said: "The first time I saw Milton was in the autumn times of the Civil war. Plum Norcross was training raw recruits in the south end of the park. What a host could say! I, too, feel very much at home in the old Milton church." If we could marshall them before us, wouldn't we shake their hands? I was converted in meeting when Dr. Clark Stillman said: "The harvest is past, the sun is set, and my soul is not saved." It arose as soon as he sat down. I was baptized by dear Elder Whitford, who was then the same dominant influence that he remained to the end. He was in the forefront of everything. Things were done in Milton as people knew that he would want them done. I taught the first infant class in the Sabbath school. Dear Aunt Polly Goodrich sat in the class and upheld my efforts and was responsible for whatever success I had. Those were times of great earnestness of mind. People were not easily diverted after they had made a stand for Christ. My years in Milton were on the whole happy years and I hope they were years of usefulness."

Mrs. O. U. Whitford, seventy-seven years old, was introduced to represent the ladies' circles, the name Whitford, and what it means to this community, the whole denomination, "pastor's wife, and finally because she is 'Mother Whitford, who did more than anyone except my own mother to lead me into the ministry.'

Mrs. Whitford said: "I am glad I said that encouraging word to Lester Randolph, aren't you? I believe many more are helped by encouragement than by criticism. I have been a Whitford for fifty years, 'grafted on.' For twelve years my husband was secretary of the Missionary society, so the whole denomination was his and therefore mine. We are all one family, these single churches make up the denomination. I would have you all loyal to the Missionary society and to the Tract society. Every family ought to have the Sabbath reader, for to be efficient we need to know what the denomination is doing. The Circles are like a hive of busy bees, working in such harmony for the promotion and for the community, and excellently organized. The work is not all done. Are we doing to the full extent of our ability all the Master expects of us? Let us have a new consecration of hearts and lives today for a closer walk with God."

Pastor Randolph, in closing, said: "We will have the text last, Hagar 2:3. We have had the sermon from many lips. It is said: The best dedication for these rooms is to use them. We shall have a social evening there next Wednesday. I think of Daniel E. Tissworth as he stood in our Chicago mission school, telling about Christ. Jesus comes knocking, knocking at the door of your heart; not getting tired like a neighbor and going away, but He keeps on knocking." And those born sinners! I plead with you each one to give your heart a new life to the service of Christ in this community. We stand on the threshold of a new era in our church work. In this work let everyone have a part. Let there be such a warmth of fellowship here that no one can come within the influence of this church without feeling it and being drawn toward Christ. Let the dedication today be a personal consecration of all our lives to Him."

The service closed with the pastor's expressive prayer and a deeply impressive anthem by the choir.

MAKE PROTEST OVER ASSESSMENT METHOD

Janesville Electric Company Claims Large Depreciation Which Assessors Refuse to Grant.

Assessors of the towns of Janesville, Fulton, La Prairie, Harmony, Porter and city of Janesville, representing districts where the Janesville Electric company own property, met yesterday afternoon at the city hall to determine on the total valuation of the company's property for apportioning the assessment in each assessment district.

Because of the absence of a member of the state tax commission, which has complete data, the meeting was adjourned until June fifth. During yesterday's meeting, the Electric company represented by George G. Kost, presented figures to the assessors showing that the depreciation in determining the depreciation to be allowed as a basis of assessment. The difference between the assessors' and company's figures amounted to a large enough total to warrant further consideration and investigation.

The assessment is made from the physical valuation of the electric company's property, the rate commission giving a financial statement from which the tax commission statement is made.

The corporation protested against an assessment on the earning capacity of the company and claimed a large depreciation which the assessors refused to grant at yesterday's meeting.

Last year's tax valuation of the plant was $359,600.00.

At hatching time, the hen comes off when she is ready. Should she return to the nest after feeding, replace the chinc eggs with those to be laid. If the nests are slightly disturbed the hens are less likely to become restless. At hatching time they should not be disturbed until the hatch is completed unless they become restless, when it may be best to remove the chicks that are hatched first.

In the latitude of Washington, the department says no more chicks should be hatched this year.

Farmers are urged to take great care and precautions in selecting the nesting. Infertile eggs can be detected by careful examination and selection.

Don't Neglect the Children's Reading Hour

"Mama, will you read me some of 'Monarch, The Big Bear tonight?" asked a wee girlie of her busy mother. "Oh, Mama, please do," chimed in her little son. "We have had no reading for so long. It don't seem like home."

The busy mother winced. She knew the boy spoke truly. They had been letting their happy evenings become a thing of memory. She had been so busy. It was all work that could not be put back too. Still must the children lose their evening hour that meant so much to them, and that was such a help and pleasure?

That night, the mother wrote out the following little ad for her home paper: "Wanted: A young girl, preferably a high school student, to act in the capacity of mother's helper, for one hour every afternoon after school. Phone 579, green."

If we told you this was from life would you wonder who the people were? Or, would you wisely decide to see if the want ad page could not help you? Could it? Have you tried it?
